The directors of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce met yesterday and unanimously resolved that the freedom of its chamber be extended to the Hon. Benjamin Harrison, president of the United States, and his party during their visit to this city, and that any statistical information concerning the business of Atlanta which he may desire will be cheerfully prepared. The board invites attention to the following brief recital of facts:

The board invites attention to the following brief recital of facts:

About Atlanta.

Atlanta was incorporated as a city in 1847, and has been the capitol of the state of Georgia since 1868. It is the county seat of Fulton county, and is the largest and most important city in the state, 101 miles northwest of Macon and 171 miles west of Augusts. Population in 1860, 9,554; in 1870, 21,788; in 1880, 37,409 and in 1890, 65,591, according to the United States census returns of these years; about one-third of these are negroes. It is an important railway center, and very appropriately termed the Gate City of the south. Eight railroad lines center here. They are the Central, the Georgia, the Richmond and Danville, the Atlanta and West Point and Western Railway of Alabama, the Georgia Pacific, the Western and Atlantic and the Louisville and Nashville, the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia and the Atlanta and Florida. There are sixty-five miles of street railways nearly all operated by electricity. Atlanta lies 1,085 feet above the sea level and is built upon hilly ground, and occupies the highest point or dividing ridge between the gulf on the west and the Atlantic ocean on the east. The city is laid out in the form of a circle, about three and a half miles in diameter, the union passenger depot being the pivotal point. L. P. Grant park, about two miles from the depot, contains fine drives, lakes, etc. The gentlemen's driving park, located about the same distance in the northern part of the city, is also a very popular resort for its members. The Driving Club's quarters are located in the grounds of the Piedmont Exposition Company. The principal public buildings are the state capitol, the courthouse and the chamber of commerce building. There are also some unusually fine church buildings and college structures, and the Kimball house is generally known as one of the largest hotels in the south. The principal manufactures consist of three large cotton mills, four large furniture factories, two cotton seed oil mills, About Atlanta

The police force consists of 121 men, including officers, and are under the control of the board of commissioners. The fire department consists of eighty-three men, three steamers, one hose wagon, four reels, three hook and ladder trucks, about 15,000 feet of hose and a chemical. The public school system, established in the year 1872, is regarded as nearly perfect as an educational system of reception committee, and will meet the president's special train at Big Shanty or Acworth. There are seventeen public school buildings, with a seating capacity, of 6,000; 120 teachers, to whom $65,000 is annually paid in salaries. The private educational institutions consist of three medical colleges, four young ladies' seminaries and two collegiste institutions for boys. The Georgia State Technological school has recently been erected here, and is engaged in a grand sphere of usefulness. In addition to this are six large institutions for the education of colored men and women. Sixty-two church edifices are in existence, comprising all the recognized sects; two libraries, the Young Men's Library and the State Library, together boast about 30,000 volumes. Atlanta's streets are paved almost entirely with belgian block, and are lighted entirely with electricity. The first settlement on the site now occupied by the city was in 1839. A year or two later the place was called Terminus. In 1843 it was a town, and had undergone another name in the best in the service, was placed last night. This afternoon the superintendent will give the company an engine and the train will pull for the river. As the presidential train rounds the curve west of the river, Captain Forbes will give the command and the first salute of welcome will be fired.

In 1847 the name was changed to Atlanta, and the city has increased rapidly in wealth and population since.

The Formal Call.

The gentlemen who have been asked to act upon the committee to assist in the reception of the president and his party are requested to meet at the mayor's office in the Chamber of Commerce building, this Wednesday morning, at 11 o'clock to perfect arrangements for the reception. The members of the special committee to meet the president up the road, and the general council are requested to meet there at the same time.

eral Places.

ROANOKE, Va., April 14.—The presidential train arrived at this thriving town at 8:50 o'clock this morning, having made the run from Washington on exact schedule time. No special incidents on the route. Fifteen minutes were spent at Lynchburg, for the purpose of shifting the train from the Richmond and Danville road to the Norfolk and Western. A large crowd gathered at the station, but there was no demonstration. This was due to the early hour, 6:45 o'clock, and the fact that the president had not arisen. An other brief stop was made at Blue Ridge, where a crowd gathered and enjoyed the spectacle of the chief magistrate of their ountry and his family at breakfast. The reception at Roanoke was most enthusiastic. The president shook hands with 100 people from the rear platform, and in response to repeated demands made a short speech. The entire population of the place seemed to have gathered at the station, and as many of them as could do so embraced the chance to shake hands with the president.

Mrs. Harrison was presented with a hand-some bouquet by Mr. and Mrs. Eddy. Many people asked for and obtained the president's autograph. The following is the president's speech at Roanoke:

people asked for and obtained the president's autograph. The following isithe president's speech at Roahoke:

My Fellow-Citisens: I desire to thank you very sincerely for this friendly greeting. The istate of Virginia is entitled, I think, to high estimation among the states for its great history, for the contribution it has made to the great store of our common country. This fact you have discovered, I think, long ago. For personal reasons I have great affection for Virginia. It is the state of my fathers.

I am glad this morning to congratulate you upon the marvelous development which has come, and the greater development which is coming to your commonwealth. You not only have an illustrious history behind you, but before you prospects of development in the wealth and prosperity in all that makes a great state—such as never entered into the imagination of those who laid the foundation of the commonwealth. (Cheers.)

You are arousing now to a realization of the benefit of the diversity of industries. In the olden time Virginia was a plantation state. I hope she may never cease to have a large agricultural interest. It is the foundation of stable society, but I regione with you that she has added to agriculture the mining of coal and iron, and bringing these from their beds, is producing all products that enter into the uses of life. In this is the secret of that great growth, illustrating what I see about me here and the promise of a future which none of ms can fully realize. In all of these things we have a common interest, and I beg to assure you in everything that tends to the social order of your people and the development and the increased prosperity of the state of Virginia. I am in the most hearty sympathy with you all. [Cheers.]

A Freight and a Material Train Crash Together Near Horseshoe Trestle. Both Engines Demolished.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., April 14.—[Specia!.]— A terrible wreck occurred just about dark last night on the Asheville and Spartanburg railroad, between a through freight from Ashe-ville and a material train near the rock cut above Landrum. The freight had orders to wait at Melrose fifty minutes to allow the material train to pass. The conductor disc-beyed his order and attempted to make Tryon, when the two trains came together. Both trains were running at a high speed when they came together at a point just a half a mile be-yond Horseshoe trestle. Both engines were demolished. The fireman and a negro on the material train were killed. Both engineers and eighteen of the hands were badly injured, many of them fatally, it is thought. One negro had his leg caught in the furnace and it was burned off before assistance came.

CARING FOR THE INJURED. CARING FOR THE INJURED.

All day long yesterday the wounded men were being treated by physicians from Asheville, and half a dozen amputations of legs and arms were made. When the collision occurred, a box car from the rear end of the material train broke loose and ran back four miles to he rock cut above Landrum. The flagman, knowing the danger of the passenger train running into it, ran back the entire distance and arrived completely exhausted, but just in time to flag down the regular passenger train. By this splendid effort another horrible disaster was averted. The trains were delayed several hours on account of the wreck, but are now running on schedule time. It is impossible to ascertain the names of the condu or any of the parties killed or injured.

Wilkesbarre Husband Sells His Wife on WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 13.-Henry W.

WILKESBARE, Pa., April 13.—Henry W. Miller is known to nearly all the people of this city. About three years ago he was married to pretty Annie Sull, daughter of a merchant. It was apparently a happy and auspicious union and everything looked favorable for a properous married life. It was supposed that Miller was satisfied and contented with his lot. But he was not. The marriage which had appeared such a promising one turned out a failure. What the original cause of the trouble between them was does not appear. It does not seem that he had any particular cause of complaint against his wife. Her faithfulness was not questioned, but he grew very weary of his life, and finally suggested to his wife that they agree to separate, and take each their own path in life. She flatly refused to do anything of the kind, and Miller for a time was nonplused. But one day a brilliant idea came into his head. He went to John Roberts, a friend, and who before Miller's marriage was a rival for Miss Sull's hand, and said to Roberts that he noticed his wife seemed very favorably impressed with him. He was a good-looking, jolly young fellow, and seemed to be as much attracted to Mrs. Miller as she to him. The scheme seemed a promising one, and one day Miller drew Roberts aside and made a proposition to him. "See here, Jack," he said, "I am jired of

"See here, Jack," he said, "I am tired of married life. I have got a first-rate little wife, but I don't care for her and she don't care for me. How would you like to have her.

I have some business here to settle up, and I won't go west for three months."
Roberts accepted the terms and said that if the wife were willing it should be done. Miller at once went to his wife and talked the matter over with her. She says now she did not agree to the sale, but Miller says she did. Anyway, he told Roberts all was statisfactory, and Roberts paid the $50. Miller then left the house and Roberts took his place as head of the firm. Roberts, however, failed in his payments. He promised to send $10 monthly. Miller threatened to return from the west and reclaim his wife. Roberts from the west and reclaim his wife. Roberts fled from the house. Mrs. Miller was now alone. She went to Alderman Donohue and told the whole story. A warrant was issued for Miller's arrest.

The convention was called to order by State Senator Kelley, of Kansas. He introduced Rev. Dr. Hayes, of this city, who offered prayer. The convention then proceeded to temporary organization. By motion of Governor Francis, of Missouri, Senator Kelley was chosen temporary chairman. In a long speech of acceptance he explained the object of the congress to be the consideration of various questions of peculiar interest to the west and south.

Mr. Kelley laid all the blame of agricultural Mr. Reliev and all the blame of agricultural depression upon a too small calculating medium. The relief he suggested was the free coinage of silver, and the raising of silver money to the standard of gold.

Letters of regret were read from thosel who had been given special invitation to attend the congress. Among the letters was one from President Harrison.

Of this number fifty-two were reported as resulting from grip or diseases complicated with it. Four cases were of the grip pure and simple. The highest number heretofore reported this year in one day was twenty-five. The total number of deaths during the past week in Brooklyn was 630, an increase of 138 over the previous week. Of these 163 were from pneumonia.

A BAD RAILROAD WRECK THE OLD RULE STANDS

The Canous in Florida Decides to Stick to the Old Rule-The Proceedings of Last Night's Meeting.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 14 .- [Special.]-

The democratic caucus was in session from 8 to 12 o'clock last night, J. L. Gaskins, speaker of the house, and a Call man, was elected permanent chairman. Mr. Saulsbury, of the house, moved that the majority rule prevail in all questions coming before the house.

Mr. Robinson, of the house, moved to substitute the two-thirds rule for the majority in making nominations, which brought out a lengthy discussion, Messrs. Wall, Hocker and Hammond favoring two-thirds, and Messrs. Saulsbury, Yancey and Brown opposing it. No test vote was taken. It was or Call had fifty-six votes, which will elect him n open session.

If the caucus stands by the two-thirds rule, the contest will be a long and doubtful one. No alliance candidate is yet in sight. The democratic caucus meets at 8 The house of representatives was filled with the democratic members in attendance of the second caucus to nominate a candidate for the United States senate, with J. L. Gaskins in the chair. The friends and opponents of Senator Call are here in force from every county in the state. Intense interest is felt. Everything depends on the fate of the two-thirds rule. Call's chances now are better than at any time during the session. Mr. Hutchinson, of Putnam, moved the adoption of the majority rule to obtain in the nomination of a candidate for United States momination of a candidate for United States senator.

Mr. Robinson, of Washington, moved as a substitute the adoption of the two-thirds rule. Senator Burford was the first to take the floor in support of the two-thirds rule. He argued that this caucus was a representative and not a sovereign body; that the people in the state conventions, with singular unanimity, since the late war, had followed the two-thirds rule, and this hody could not disturbly taxent by conventions, with singular unanimity, since the late war, had followed the two-thirds rule, and this body could not disturb it except by revolution, the only reason urged for the adoption of the dangerous expedient they were about to adopt.

Senator Wall made a telling speech, referring to the senatorial contest four years ago in which the friends of Governor Perry and ex-Governor Boxham lallotted for forty-five consecutive nights without result and both agreed to submit to defeat rather than abandon the time-honored rule.

Both placed their interests on the altar of democracy, when Pasco carried off the prize. Does Call hold a greater lease on this great people than these two proud sons of Florida?

Mr. Shine, of Orange, spoke for the old rule, and urged that Czar Reed ever had respected the milnority's senators.

Mr. Myers, of Leon, arose, saying the majority rule was an expediency—an expediency which would secure the election of their favorite—to which expediency he now entered his solemn protest.

"It may be said," said he, "that you adopt in the said of the control of the control

"It may be said," said he, "that you adopt the majority fule. I warn you that this is not the last of it."

Mr. Broome, of Gadden, followed in favor of the majority rule, and referred to the nom-inations of George Washington, and asked if he was nominated by the two-thirds rule, Mr. Dougherty asked, "Was Washington a democrat?"

"No," said Mr. Broome, "he was a federalist." [Applause.]
Senator Kirk spoke in favor of the twothirds rule, and warned the majority on the mitted that he liked her and though she liked him.

"Of course she does," said Miller. "I've heard her talk of you many a time. Now I'll tell you what I'll do: I'll let you step into my place and take the wife and all I have here for $250. I want to go out west, and I'll go and you'll never hear anything of me any more. You'll have a good wife and a comfortable home all for $250. What do you say?"

Robert liked the ides, but he said he didn't have that amount of cash. Miller studied awhile and then said:

"Well, you needn't pay me all cash. Give me $50 down, and the balance in three months."

Senator Rifk spoke in lavo. Of the count the thirds rule, and warned the majority on the recurrence of the motion to adopt the substitute, which was for the two-thirds rule. The vote was yeas 56 and nays 40.

Senator Rifk spoke in lavo. Of the count the thirds rule, and warned the majority on the recurrence of the motion to adopt the substitute, which was for the two-thirds rule. The vote was yeas 56 and nays 40.

Senator Broome, the leader of the Call forces, moved the adoption of the rule be made unanimous, which was agreed to by a rising vote. The old rule stands, and so long as it does. Call cannot get there. His highest vote is 55. This gives new life to the alliance, and it is believed to night that they will bring out a man tomorrow. Telegrams are pouring in from over the state to vote for no one but an allianceman. Taffahasses is wild over the result.

Nominations were then declared in order.

Mr. Clark, of Polk, put in nomination Wilkinson Call for United States senator and made a lengthy and beautiful speech. Mr. McRae, of Pasco, placed in nomination ex-Governor W. D. Bloxham, in a few pointed words.

a roseate picture of the senator's political his-

Senator Rogers took the floor and delivered one of the most brilliant efforts ever heard in the capitol in seconding the nomination of Bloxham. He presented him as a compromise man—not of the alliance, not of the banks, not of the railroads, but a man of the whole people.

Senator Wall made a strong speech favoring

THE EXCITEMENT IN CHARLOTTE. The Negro Branham Brought into Court-More Trouble Feared

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 14.—[Special.]—
The brutal murder of the Italian fruit vender is still the all-absorbing theme in this city.
Large crowds have swarmed about the streets today giving their experience during the warm hours of yesterday and the day before. Branham, the negro accused of the murder, was arraigned in the criminal court this afternoon. The fourthouse was filled to overflow-ing with citizens anxious to get a look at the prisoner. Messrs. Burwell & Walker will as-sist Colonel J. L. Brown, the solicitor, in proscuting the case. Messrs. Clarkson & McCall have been retained by the prisoner and his friends. The prisoner pleaded not guilty, and the case will be called Monday morning at 10

Excitement is still at a high point. All last night hundreds of men walked the streets well

Considerable excitement was created today when it was learned that the fire alarm had been blocked so that it was impossible to send in an alarm. It is thought that some of the negroes did this in hopes of setting fire to the city, and letting the fire get such a headway that to stop it would be almost an impossi-

Some one fired into the residence of Mr.E.J. Heath at an early hour this morning, but for-tunately it did not hit any member of the family. The jail will be well guarded tonight. The citizens have to some extent quieted down this evening and the city is clear of negroes, who have left their houses, seeking safety in the woods and out in the suburbs of the city.

The trustees of the Baptist State Female Trinity college.

The trustees of the Baptist State Female university met here this evening, and adopted the report of the committee which was appointed to recommend a course of study at the university. The plan thus adopted is for a course similar to that at Wake Forest college, with a few minor exceptions and some additions. A medical department is to be established and thoroughly equipped. No definite date for the university was fixed, but it will be during the coming autumn. Three of the trustees, L. L. Polt, J. D. Huffham and R. B. Overby, having resigned, W. L. Pateat, John C. Scarborough and W. N. Jones were elected to fill the vacancies. It will be deeded to establish temporarily an academy for the preparatory education of girls not prepared to enter the university.

The directors of the North Carolina railroad meat here tomorrow to receive the resignation of Governor Holt as president. W. F. Kornegay, of Goldsboro, will be elected to fill the vacancy.

MORRIS VS. BULKELEY. The Case Called in the Superior Court Yesterday.

New Haven, Conn., April 14.—The gubernatorial muddle which has agitated the people of this state and other states, was formally ashered into court in this city this morning when the papers in the quo warranto proceed ings, brought by Governor Morris against Morgan G. Bulkeley, were presented in the civil side of the superior court by State Attorney Doolittle, one of the counsel for Judge Morris. Proceedings were also brought against Lieutenant Governor S. E. Merriam by Dr. Alsop, democratic lieutenant governor-elect. It is thought that General Merriam elect. It is thought that General Merriam was brought into the case in order that Bulkeley may not be alone in a position to delay action or to endeavor to narrow the case before the court. The proceedings were brought before Judge Prentice, who is an intimate friend of Governor Bulkeley, and did not occupy over fifteen minutes. The courtroom was crowded, but none of the men most interested were present, and Attorney William C. Case, counsel for Bulkeley, was also absent. The writ was made returnable April 21st, but Judge Prentice thought the time was too short, and the date was changed to April 24th. short, and the date was changed to April 24th.

The papers are very lengthy, and only the first and last pages were read in court. The lawyers for Judge Morris will be ex-Governor Ingersoll, State Attorney Doolittle, Judge Henry Stoddard, of this city, and Attorney Hammersley, of Hartford.

Over the Big Stone Gap Railroad to Be Put On This Morning. KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 14.-[Special.]-The first regular passenger train on the Louis-ville and Nashville (Big Stone Gap extension) will go on tomorrow. The train will leave Cumberland Gap at 7:15 o'clock a. m., and Cumberland Gap at 7:15 o'clock a. m., and reach Big Stone Gap shortly before noon; returning, reach Cumberland Gap about 8 o'clock p. m., in time to connect with the north-bound Louisville and Nashville train from Knoxville. CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 14.—[Special.]—Charlotte and vicinity seem to have been in a belligerent state lately. While rumors of a "fight" have been going on in the city an actual engage took place not far from here a day or so ago. Miss Jennie Jerome and Miss Mary Ellin

Miss Jennie Jerome and Miss Mary Ellington, daughters of two prominent gentlemen of Clear Creek township, had a lively little "mill," in which Miss Jerome knocked Miss Ellington down three times. The affair took place on the banks of a small stream on Mr. Jerome's place. Miss Ellington was there fishing. Miss Jerome came up with a party of friends and accused Miss Ellington of making some uncomplimentary remarks about her. Miss Ellington denied any knowledge of the remarks having been made, whereup Miss ner. Miss Ellington denied any knowledge of the remarks having been made, whereupon Miss Jerome told her she told a lie, and jumped on her, knocking her down three times. A general melee followed, in which there was pulling of hair, scratches and bruises. One of the party hads hand badly bit, and others' dresses were cut. It is not known who used the knives, but the injuries stated bore ample evidence of their having been used. All parties were up before 'Squire Eli Henderson for trial.

The War Between a Railroad and Town

Anthorities.

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 14.—[Special.]—
The war between the town of Grahams, on the Augusta division of the South Carolina railway, and the railroad company, has broken out afresh. Today the railroad company applied to Judge Simonton, in the federal court, with a complaint that the town authorities were interfering with the traffic of the road and the carrying of the mails, by threatening to arrest its servants and employes. Judge Simonton issued an injunction restraining the authorities from arresting the employes of the road or interfering with trains. The writ is returnable April 24th. The authorities of Grahams claim that trains are run too fast through the town. It was the marshal of this piace who some months ago shot and killed a colored fireman on one of the South Carolina railroad trains.

A TRIANGULAR FIGHT.

In Which One Man Is Killed and the Other

MERIDIAN, Miss., April 14.—A negro, who had been arrested for carrying concealed weapons, was being conveyed to jail in charge of Constable Wilson. On the road to DeKalb, a man named Sanford, the employer of the negro, demanded his release. Officer Wilson refused to release him. Sanford then started to untie him; Wilson told him to desist, and made a motion as if to draw a weapon. At made a mound as it to draw a weapon. At this point a triangular fight occurred between Wilson and Sanford and Sanford's friend, one Payne. Wilson was killed and Payne shot in the neck and shoulder. It is also said Sanford was wounded.

loud calls for a speech, the president made the following address:

My Fellow Citizens: I have found not only pleasure, but instruction, in riding today through a portion of the state of Virginia—that is feeling, in a very striding way, the impulse of the new development. It is extremely gratifying to notice that those hidden sources of wealth, which were so long unobserved and so long unsed, are now being found, and that these regions, once so retired, occupied by a pastoral people, having difficult access to the centers of population, are now being rapidly transformed into busy manufacturing and commercial centers. In the early settlement of this city, emigrants pouréd over the Alleghanies and Blue Ridge like waters over an obstructing ledge, seeking the fertile and attractive farm regions of the great west. They passed unobserved these marvelous hidden stores of wealth which are now being brought into use. Having filled those great basins of the west, they are now turning back to Virginia and West Virginia, and Tennessee, to bring about the development and production for which the time is ripe and which will surprise the world. [Cheers.]

It has not been long since every implement of iron—domestic, agricultural and mechanical—were made for you in other states. The iron point of the wooden mold ocard plow, with which the sarly farmers here turned the soil, came from distant states. But now Virginia and Tennessee are stirring their energies to participats, in a large degree, in the mechanical productions and in the great awakening of American commerce and American influence which will lift the nation to a place among the nations of the world never before attained. (Cheers.]

What hinders us, secure in a market of our own great-population, from successful competition in the markets of the world? What hinders our people, possessing every element of material wealth and endowed with inventive genius and energy unsurpassed, from again having upon the seas a merchant marine, thying the flag of our country and carrying its commerce into every sea and every port? I am glad to stand, for this moment, among you; glad to express my sympathy with you in every enterprise that tends to develop your state and local communities; glad to stand with you upon one common platform of respect to the constitution and law, differing in our politics as to what the law should be, but pledged, with a common devotion, to obedience to the law, as the majority shall, by their exprespledged, with a common devotion, to obedience to the law, as the majority shall, by their expres to the law, as the majority shall, by their expressions, make it.

I shall carry away from here a new impulse to public duty, a new inspiration as a citizen with you of a country whose greatness is only dawning. And may I now express the pleasure I shall have in every good that can come to you as a community, and to each of you as individuals? May peace, prosperity and social order dwell in all your communities and the fear and love of God in every home. (Cheers.)

The party then returned to the train, and the president shook hands with many people from the rear platform. He was presented with several fine samples of native tobacco, and each of the ladies of the party was presented with a fine bouquet.

Brief speeches were made by Postmaster General Wanamaker and Secretary Rusk. There was so much cheering for Mrs. Harrison; that she was compelled to come out on the platform and bow her acknowledgment.

A committee of fifteen citizens of Knoxville, including William Rule, editor of The Journal, and Representatives Houk and Taylor, boarded the train at Bristol and accompanied the party to Knoxville. At Bristol the train passed into the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia road.

On arriving at Johnson, the president said: On arriving at Johnson, the president said:

I shall not speak of what has been done, but have supreme regard for the honor of the nation, profound respect for the constitution, and a most sincere desire to meet the just expectations of my fellow citizens. I am not one of those who believe that the good of any class can be permanently and largely attained except upon lines which promote the good of all our people. I rejoice in the union of the states. I rejoice to stand here in East Tennessee among people who so conspicuously, and at such sacrifice, during the hour of the nation's peril, stood by the flag and to their convictions of public duty. [Cheers.]

And I am especially glad to be able to say that those who, following other views of duty took sides against us in that struggle, without division in voice or heart, today praise Almighty God that he preserved us our nation. [Cheers.] There is no man, whatever his view upon the questions that then divided us, but in view of the marvelous benefits which are disseminating themselves over these states, must also bless God today that alavery no longer exists, and that the union, of free states is in dissoluble. [Cheers.]

What is it that has stirred the pulses of this great region, that has kindled these furnace fires; that has converted these retired and isolated farms, upon which you and your ancestors dwelt, into business centers of trade and mechanical pursuits, bringing a market close to the door of the farmer and bringing prosperity into every home. It is that we have no line of division between the states. It is that these impulses of freedom and enterprise, once limited in their operations, are now common to all the states. We have a common heritage. The confederate soldier has full, honorable and ungrudging participation in all the benefits of a great and just government. [Cheers.]

I do not doubt today that these would be among the readiest of all our population to follow the old flag if it should be assailed from any quarter.

your faces, to receive these evidences or your good will. I hope I may have guidance and courage in such time as remains to me in public life, conscientiously to serve to public good and the common good of our beloved country. [Great theering.]

Speeches were also made by Postmaster General Wanamaker and Secretary Rusk, after which the train sped on to Jonesboro, where the president made an address from the rear platform of the train.

The president addressed the people as follows: was the waving of flags and tooting of horns. The president addressed the people as follows:

My Fellew Citizens: The arrangements for our journey will not permit me to tarry with you long. I thank you most sincerely for this cordial demonstration. I rejoice to see in the hands of the children here that banner of glory which is the symbol of our greatness and promise of our security. I am glad that by common consent of all our people, without any regard to past differences, we have once and forever struck hands upon the proposition that from the lakes to the gulf, from the St. Lawrence to the gulf of California, there be one flag and one constitution. [Langhter.] I am glad to know now, by the consent of all your people, without regard to differences that separated you then, that your highways are open to all of us, without prejudice; that your hearts are true to the union and the constitution, and that the high sense of public duty which then characterized you still abides among your people.

The Sun's Cotton Review.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Futures opened lower, further declined, closing five to six points lower further declined, closing five to six points lower for this and three to four points lower for the next crop. A further decline of two sixty-fourths at Liverpool and receipts at the ports nearly as large for the day as for the whole of the corresponding week last year, together with good weather at the south, and a full interior movement were all too much for the bulls, and prices steadily gave way, declining to about the lowest figures of the season. There was a show of steadiness in the last quarter of an hour, and speculation became fairly active, but there was little or no recovery in values. Spot cotton was easier to buy, but not quotably lower.

REJOICING IN ELBERTON, Over the Arrival of the First Train on the

New Road. ELERBTON, Ga., April 14.—[Special.]—This has been a great day for Elberton. The Georgia, Carolina and Northern railroad has just en completed to Elberton, the last spike having been driven. All of Elberton turned out to see the train come in. Merchants closed their doors; all business was suspended, and as the engine rolled into our town there was a great crowd at the depot to see it. The military company was there in full dress uniform, and the train was welcomed by a salute from the company. The ladies, also, had a nice supper prepared for the railroad men, and both white and black did full justice

The Georgia, Carolina and Northern has just finished a new depot at this place, and it is a beauty. The officers are doing everything they can to make it one of the best roads in the south. They have made large purchases in Elberton. They now own about $40,000 worth of property in our town, and General Hoke, the president, says Elberton is one of the best towns he knows of and he is not afraid to put his money in Elberton dirt. Truly, Elberton is on a great boom, and the Georgia, Carolina and Northern has done a great deal towards its property. At this writing everybody is giving three cheers for the Georgia, Carolina and Northern railroad.

A Row at a Colored Entertainment Elberton.

Elberton.

Elberton. Ga., April 14.—[Special.]—A serious difficulty occurred at the colored college in Elberton last Saturday night in which two negroes, Omer Heard, of Elberton, and a negro named Phillips, working on the Georgia, Carolina and Western railroad, were seriously wounded. It appears from the evidence so far produced that the negroes had an entertainment at the new negro college in town and that George Johnson went there equipped for an affray.

After a slight difficulty, he drew a pistol and commenced firing at random, his shots taking effect on parties not at all connected with the affray. He managed to make his escape, but a strong petition will be presented to the governor to offer a reward for his arrest. The people seemed determined to bring him to justice if possible.

At the conclusion of the sermon a large number, in response to an invitation, stepped forward to kneel in prayer, and with contrite spirit ask pardon for former sins.

The services will continue until Sunday night.

They are being conducted under the anspices of the North Georgia Holiness Association, and quite a number of well-known ministers are in attendance from other parts of the state.

A NEW SOCIETY

To Organize a Chapter Here Today to Represent the State.

The National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution intends organizing a chapter in Atlanta, as it is desirons of being represented in all of the thirteen original can has been appointed honorary regent for the state of Georgia, and is authorized to call a meeting to be held at 58 Merritts avenue today at 40'clock, which all|descendants of American revolutionary |ancestors are earnestly invited to attend.

A very successful real estate sale was held yes-terday atternoon by Messra. Welch & Turman. The property consisted of twenty-two lots, 50x137½ feet, lying beyond Grant park, near Fort Walker. A large crowd of spirited buyers were present, and the sale netted over $5,000, $307 being the highest paid for any single lot.

Among the purchasers were Messrs. J. B. Jackson, J. S. Cook, B. C. Fry, J. J. Schikan, James Campbell, George A. Clayton, H. A. Inman, D. E. Luther and M. J. Deacy.

Immediately afterward the same firm sold six lots on Cameron and McDonald streets, near Oakland cometery—five of them to Mr. J. W. White and one to Mr. C. J. Brickson. This sale amounted to $1.00.

tions. No Belief. Permanently Cured by the Cuticura.

During the summer of 1889 my sighteen months' old infant was so afflicted with eruptions that ordinary domestic remedies failed to give any relief. On his hips would often appear the seeming track of a little wire-like worm, and on other parts of his body bad sores came and remained till I procured the Curtcura REMEDIES. For some time I need the soap and salve without a blood medicine, but they did not do so well as when all were used together. It has now been nearly a year since the eruption was healed, and I very much feared it would return with the warm weather of this year, but the summer is passed and not one sore has appeared on him.

MRS. A. M. WALKER,

Sore from Waist Down

I had three of the best physicians in Paducah, and they did me no good. I used your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and they have cured me sound and well. I was sore from my waist down with eczems. They have cured me with no sign of return. I owe my life to CUTICURA, for without a doubt, I would have been in my grave had it not been for your remedies. W. H. QUALLS, Paducah, Ky.

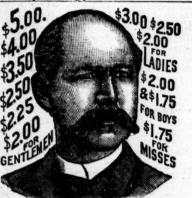

Cuticura Remedies

If the thousands of little babies who have been cured of agonizing, itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, and blotchy skin and scalp diseases could write, what a host of letters would be received by the proprietors of the Cuticura Remedies. Few can appreciate the agony these little ones suffer, and when these great remedies relieve in a single application the most distressing eczemas and itching and burning skin diseases, and point to a speedy and permanent cure, it is positively inhuman not to use them without a moment's delay.

Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; SOAP, 25c.; RESOLVENT, SI. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Boston, Mass.

Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases." BABYS Sk in and Scalp purified and beautified by Cuticura Soap. Absolutely pure.

AUGUSTA'S LIBRARY. Meeting and Election of Officers

Other Augusta News.

Other Augusta News.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 14.—[Special.]—Some very radical changes in the management of the Young Men's Library was made at the annual meeting this afternoon. For several years this fine institution has been neglected by the public so far that the library recently has been kept open only a few hours each day. At a meeting this afternoon President Maxwell and Secretary Gibson positively declined telection, and almost a complete set of new loss were elected. The officers chosen are resident, M. P. Foster; vice president, H. B. fing; treasurer, Victor J. Dorr; secretary, Charles S. Bohler; directors, Rev. Lansing Burrows, J. R. Lamar, W. H. Fleming, Pleasant A. Stovall, W. F. Eve, L. B. Evans, J. F. Patterson, E. J. Cogrove, E. S. Schetz, Henry Giebner, George R. Lombard.

With new spirit it is hoped more interest will be taken in this public institution and kapt up properly and rightly supported.

WHERE DO THEY COME FROM?

Columbus, Ga., April 14.—[Special.]—C. M. Hall, a fiagman on the Columbus and Western railway, was run over this morning near Birmingham and so mangled that he died in a few hours. He was on top of a car and ran to put down brakes in response to a signal whistle, when he fell between the cars and the heavy train passed over him. He came to Columbus from Butler, where his parents reside, and was well thought of. His body will be brought here tomorrow and be shipped to his home.

The large firms will be able to the company of the small ones will not be a position to meet it. They will be forced into the company or trust in this way, it is alculated, and then the trust will force prices up and keep them up at a paying rate. This is probably the biggest trust ever organzed in the south, and is regarded as the presensor of many others of a similar nature. Indeed, there is already talk of a grand combine of the lumber firms of the Carolinas, Georgia, Florida and Alabama. Some persons might answer von under certain circumstances: "that is our business." But let us assure you that you ask a proper question; and taking it for granted that you are asking that question now, we answer you: "We are Newspaper Advertising Agents." ATLANTA, GA., APRIL 15, 1891.

The President in Atlanta.

President Harrison will be with us today The chief magistrate of the most powerful renumic and the greatest nation in the world's history will receive a welcome that cannot fail to be gratifying to him, a welcome that will sustain Atlanta's time-honored reputation for hospitality.

We have been visited by only one other republican president, Mr. Hayes. Our last president visitor was Mr. Cleveland: our first was Mr. Fillmore.

But these visits have nothing to do with politics, and it is getting to be regarded as a matter of course for a president to find an opportunity of taking a trip in this direction. and seeing Atlanta during his official term. We are glad that President Harrison is making this tour through the south and west, and it affords us sincere pleasure to welcome him as the guest of Georgia's capital. He will see no lack of loyalty and law and order in the Empire State of the South. He will see on every hand a prosperous, progressive and contented people, and he will find that in the new south business is a bigger thing than politics, although the people are as sturdily independent as of old, as jealously devoted to their rights, and as ready to maintain them.

The president and his party will be made to feel at home while they are here, and Atlanta will leave nothing undone to make their visit a pleasant and a memorable one.

An Old Enemy Captured. A Washington special states that General Ben Butler has decided to make an extended tour through the south in May.

During the late war the south was exceedingly anxious to capture Butler, and President Davis offered a big reward for him, but circumstances were against us.

It was reserved for the tempting resources and advantages of the new south to capture and disarm our old enemy. The general held out a long time, but finally yielded, and is now actively interested in a southern development company in Georgia, along with number of prominent ex-confederates.

Times change, and men change. In the old days this man invaded the south to lay waste and tear down. Now he comes to develop mines, build railways and sell town lots. Once it was to his interest to wreck our prosperity; now he is eager to advance it.

It is all right. Let us take men and things as they are. We had very little use for Butler as a soldier, but a generation later, as a peaceful and enterprising business man, he will find that we are too busy with the problems of our material progress to waste time discussing his war record.

The enterprises and experiences of such men as General Butler in the south are a complete answer to the charges made by Joseph Cook and others, that the old confederate sentiment here finds expression in bulldozing and violent methods. So far a our people are concerned, the war is over. and the clatter of hammers and the hum of industry suit our ears better than the clash

New Orleans and the Mafia.

The Roman correspondent of The New York Evening Post, in writing of the feeling in Italy towards the United States. takes occasion to give some excellent advice to the people of New Orleans. The corresays that the flagrantly criminal character of a large portion of the Italian emigration to the southern states is too well known in Italy to permit the people of that country to doubt that the authorities of New Orleans have a knotty problem to deal with in the Mafia. It is admitted, the correspondent says, that the extermination of the organization is necessary to order, and that the longer the efficient remedies are neglected the worse the evil will become. The only efficient remedy is the suppression of the Mafia. This well-informed who is on the spot and knows whereof h speaks, concludes by assuring the people of New Orleans that, unless they take some radical measures against the Mafia, as such, so as to make the belonging to it an offense against the law, they are not likely to suppress it, unless by expelling from the state all Italians-which is more difficult.

These are very apt and timely suggestions. During the trial of the Mafia assassins, the evidence was overwhelming as to the exist. ence in New Orleans of an organized band of Italian murderers and robbers, and recent events show that the city fairly swarms with professional assassins who belong to the Mafia. The situation there is not one to be viewed with equanimity or tolerance. If there has been any improvement at all, it is due to the prompt execuion of the assassins of Chief Hennessy. The retirement of the Mafia to its back rooms and its cellars is only temporary, however. The attitude of Italians in other parts of the country shows beyond all question that the surviving assassins and their active sympathizers are meditating a move-ment which has for its object a bloody re-when it is least expected.

It is well, therefore, for the people of New Orleans a continue to busy themselves about this Mafia. What they have already done should be merely a symptom of what they propose to do. They should pursue ssination society and root it out at any cost and at all hazards. They should do this even if it is found necessary to appoint a vigilance committee to complete the work that has already been begun. While extra-judicial executions are to be deprecated, yet there are times and occasions when they clarify the air. It may not be possible for the police force of New Orleans o cope with the swift and elusive manifestations of the Mafia, but the police force can accomplish much if it be supported by an active, a vigorous and an unyielding public

In rooting out the Mafia, New Orleans is out insuring law and order and the safety of ts own citizens.

A Good Work Well Begun. The meeting at the home of Captain J W. English last night was one of those characteristic gatherings which have from time to time played such an important part in the upbuilding of Atlanta.

It was a gathering of representative citizens who had come together to consider a matter which they deemed important to the welfare of the city. They discussed the matter in hand, determined upon plans of procedure, then added their emphatic enlorsement of those plans by putting their hands into their pockets and contributing then and there more than half the entire amount they had set out to raise from the entire city.

That is the true Atlanta spirit. And the cause in which it is enlisted is certainly a most worthy one. In the speeches las night the wants of the Young Men's Christian Association building-that splendid structure in which every Atlantian feels pride-were clearly set forth, and promptly it was determined to meet these wants and make the building all that it should be.

Eleven thousand dollars is needed. than $6,000 was contributed last night, and the rest will doubtless be promptly forthcoming.

There should be no question of this. The good people of Atlanta, working in a good cause, can accomplish any task set before them. All should give, and give liberally; it is hoped that all the friends of the asso ciation will accept the invitation to meet at the executive mansion Thursday night and aid in the good work by their presence.

In the Matter of Schoolbooks.

President Eliot, of Harvard, in some adresses which he has delivered recently, criticises in a vigorous way the reading books employed in the grammar schools of Massachusetts. We have no doubt that the case is quite as bad as he puts it, and the trouble is that his remarks apply to the readers used in the public schools in all parts of the country. President Eliot says he has read an enormous quantity of these books, and he declares his conviction that it would be for the advantage of the whole public school system of the United States if every reader were hereafter to be absolutely excluded from the schools.

"They are not made up of selections from recognized literature," he goes on to say, "and, as a rule, this class of readers are simply ineffable trash. They are not fit material to put before a childish mind even at seven, eight, nine or ten years of age, They are utterly unfit material to use in the training of our children. I read a very well known reader, intended for children from eight so nine years of age, and found in it not a single hero or heroine of the human race mentioned-not one. The heroes and heroines of that reader were all animals, cats, kittens, dogs and a horse or

These remarks are timely. Only those parents who take an unusually serious inthe education of their chi appreciate the full force of President Eliot's criticism. It is not only a fact that human interest is wholly wanting in these books. but their contents are invariably below the standard of correct taste. The truth seems to be that they are compiled by men who are incapable of taking a large view of English literature. The readers are the re sult of poorly paid hack work. What is true of the readers is also true of most of the textbooks for children. They are dry, mechanical, dull and forbidding. Take the jumbles that pass for English grammar. They are so mechanical as to be stupid. Why is it that the professional grammar maker so persistently misses the life and essence of the great language with which he attempts to deal? It is one of the mysteries.

It is useless, however, to attempt a re form in the matter of schoolbooks so long as pedagogues insist on teaching altogether by the card, and so long as parents are content with the result of such a system. The "old field" methods, whereby the master took note of the individuality and genius of each particular pupil, have given way to "scientific" superficiality.

Climate and Energy.

Some time ago a prominent statesman, in the course of a commencement speech in New England, remarked that the southern states could never do much because of their

Let us look into it a little. After the Anglo-Saxons had been settled in the south about a century or more their descendants bore the hardships of the revolutionary war as well as their fellow-soldiers from the northern colonies. So much for physical endurance and energy. On the intellectual side of the question, it may be said that the south produced the statesmen who founded our republic and guided it through many stormy decades. At the end of nearly another century the confederates exhibited almost superhuman qualities of energy in their four years' war, while their intellectual ac tivity was never greater. At the end of the struggle they mended their broken fortunes with almost inconceivable rapidity, became a power in the government, and surpassed their former achievements in the fields of literature, science and art. Now, such a record as this ought to make it plain that the Anglo-Saxon race improves rather than deteriorates in the climate of the southern states. In a recent editorial on Australia, The Louisville Courier-Journal

The experience of the English in Australia thows that other conditions and not climate have etarded the material development of the south-

least than half a century the tenth city of the world in commercial and financial importance, a city boiling over with energy and enterprise, a city boiling over with energy and enterprise, a Chicago in the southern hemisphere.

But the climate of Australia, while not taking from their enterprise and energy, is making important physical and mental changes in the Englishman, the Irishman and the Scotchman. native-born young man of Australia is invariably tailer and slenderer than his father, and in the case of the Englishman and Scotchman more volatile and more voluble. The Englishman must have a climate similar to his own in order to retain all his characteristics of mind and body. Thus, in the South island of New Zealand, which has a climate cool, damp and forgy like these of has a climate cool, damp and foggy like that of England, the New Zealand born young man is like his English-born father.

After all, it should be recollected that ours is not a tropical climate. All the conditions here are favorable to the best developmen of a man's physical and mental character istics. The southerners of today, when placed side by side with Englishmen, suffer nothing by the comparison. On the contrary, they are taller, better looking, and their minds seem to be more alert,

JOHN H. PARNELL

Mr. Parnell Speaks of the Campaign in Ir land and the True Inwards

WEST POINT, Ga., April 14 .- [Spe Rumor, coming from apparently good authority, is to the effect that Mr. John H. Parnel has been summoned back to ireis brother, Charles Stewart Parnell.

As well as can be ascertained here tonight Mr. John H. Parnell has been selected as one of the chosen members to stand for election from the Irish constitucies in the general election it is confidently predicted will be held before the early autumn. From those who have co versed with Mr. Parnell it is understood that his brother, the Irish leader, will select as his standard bearers only persons in whom he implicit personal confidence. In this way he hopes to avoid the dangers of treason which beset him in room No. 15 at the opening of the winter session of the present parliament. In a semi-official conversation Mr. John H. Par-nell spoke with much spirit of the situation of affairs in his native country.

"The people of the United States have no idea whatever of the real state of affairs in Ireland," he said with feeling. "The O'Shes incident had but little to do with the fight being made on my brother, and was only th match that fired the bomb. The authoritie of England hate my brother and his policy with all the venom of their natures, and had they perceived an opportunity would have recipitated the fight long ago.

"If the priesthood would withdraw their influence, the peasantry of my country would fly to the standard of my brother to a man. England controls the pope absolutely, and rules him with an iron hand when her own interests are concerned. Through him order were sent to every Catholic priest in Ireland to fight Parnell with every resource in their

"How will it terminate?" 'That nobody can tell. It is a battle be tween giants. I be lieve, though, that home rule will come from this contest with brighter hopes of achievement than ever before and if my brother's im mense brain power enables him to continue to ead the fight, he will yet achieve for Ireland that which he has worked to obtain through long and bitterly fought battles. As politician he is shrewd, calculating and sel dom fails in his purpose. This is his fort, in which I don't think he can be equaled in

"Do you ever receive letters from him?" "Yes, very often. I wrote to him some time ago advising him to come to America and deliver speeches over the United States, and I think he would be given such an ovation that it would materiall affect his fight in Ireland. His presence is required in Ireland so incessantly that it is scarcely probable that he will come, although believe it would be the best move he could make just now?"

John Parnell is exceedingly unassu and is a man of evident ability.

But it doesn't begin to be a full summary of the work of last night's meeting, for no figures can express the moral weight of that meeting, or the extent of the good which is said to result from the action of the gentlemen who participated in it.

That was a manifestation of the "Atlanta spirit." It is to just such meetings as that at Captain English's, composed of men like those who participated in this one, that the greater part of Atlanta's prosperity is due.

How It Came About.

About four years ago a meeting was held in the parlors of Mr. English's residence to consider Atlanta's need of a building for the Young Men's Christian Association. The result of the movement started then was the erection of the building, which compares favorably with any in the country.

But the building is not complete. For some time the directors of the association have urged the necessity of completing the unfinished portions, thereby to greatly facilitate the association's power for good. Other gentlemen who had been active in the movement which resulted in the erection of the building were consulted, and the result was the following call, which was sent to many of Atlanta's most prominent citizens ATLANTA, Ga., April 11 .- The undersigned re

There were present such men as Governor Northen, Mayor Hemphill, Mr. S. M. Inman, Mrs. E. P. Chamberlin, Major M. C. Kiser, Captain E. P. Howell, Mr. Hugh T. Inman, Dr. J. W. Rankin, Captain E. S. spoke feelingly of the work in hand. "I will call on Mr. Inman," he said, "to explain more fully the needs of the association and the object for which this meeting was and the object for which this meeting was called. A good many of you remember the meeting held in these pariors about four years ago, the result of which is the splendid building for this grand association, in which every citizen feels a pardonable pride. Atlanta's example was quickly followed by other cities and towns in the south. I am sure that noboby who contributed a dollar to that building regrets having done so, and I am sure that it is a source of pride and comfort to everybody who helped build it. Such buildings serve as fortifications, fix us up in the fight that is constantly going on between the devil and the children of the Heavenly King—they are good places for the weary soldier to rest, as for the weak to renew his strength. There are outposts of the church and in them is done a grand work. It is a consolation to us here in this life to feel that we have been able in a small degree to help the good work; but greater will it be to find that, when in the world to come we be to find that, when in the world to come we are called to account, we see opposite our names the credit for having done some good work. There is no work," concluded Captain Howell, "nobler and grander than that done by the Young Men's Christian Association, and I am glad indeed to be able to contribute, in a small way, toward helping that work. I now ask Mr. Inman to tell you more fully the object of this call."

MR. INMAN EXPLAINS.

Mr. INMAN EXPLAINS.
Mr. Inman explained briefly the situation of affairs at the building.
"At the meeting of the board of trustees a "At the meeting of the board of trustees a few days ago," he said, "the necessity for more room was vividly impressed upon us. We are conscious that the association is doing great work, and that it is enlarging its sphere of usefulness daily; so rapid, indeed, has been the increase of the work that we find the building badly crowded—work that we find the building bally crowded—so badly that it is impossible to do full justice to some of the departments."

"We are here," continued Mr. Inman, "to discuss the matter as business men in a business way, and we ask for your counsel, assistance and sympathy. We need about $10,000. We have $20,000 invested there now, and we get an income from it of about $1,500; add $10,000 to it and complete the unfinished portions of the building, and we will be able to increase that income to $4,000 or $4,500. As a mere business proposi-is grander than this. In his name, then, we appeal to you tonight for sympathy, advice and help."

ME. WHITE STATES FIGURES Mr. W. Woods White, one of the trustees, presented a financial statement showing what had been contributed for the building and had been contributed for the building and what had been paid out.

"There are still on our books," he said, "un paid subscriptions to the amount of $14,445. Of this sum the gentleman who has had the collecting in hand says that from $3,000 to $5,000 will be available from people who have refused to pay their fifth installments until the building is completed. Finish the building, and at least a portion of that money will be available." portion of that money will be available."

THE ASSOCIATION'S WORK.

Captain E. S. Gay, president of the association, spoke eloquently of what is being done, quoting from the secretary's reports to show what is daily being accomplished in all the different branches of the work. He showed clearly the great need for more room in order to fully carry on the work as it should be done. Secretary Licklider told graphically of each day's work in the building, of what is being done and of what could be done with the increase of room asked for.

THE HOW OF IT. "Now, gentlemen, you've all heard what must be done; the question is, how to do it," said the chairman as Mr. Licklider took his seat. "I'll ask Mr. Chamberlin to make a suggestion."

"Well, Mr. Chairman," said the gentleman called for, "we have $90,000 invested there. An investment of $10,000 will greatly increase the income. Now, tion; what we can't raise here, we can appoint committees to get. I have said I would give 3250, and I renew that subscription. The question of when it was to be paid around the room.

"And Colonel McBride?" "Well, I can't give as much as some of the gentlemen here, but I'll give $200." "And I," said Mayor Hemphill, who anticipated the chairman's call, "want to say that I regard it a privilege to be here with this crowd. I am heart and soul for this novement. That institution, in my opinion, does more good than any other one institution n Atlanta. Earnest men are at the head o it. My heart goes out to the young men and I gladly make my subscription $500."

There was a brisk clapping of hands at thi and the call went on.

Mr. Neal gave $250, Mr. Scott $50 and adled another $50, and then $40 "for Mrs. Scott, for I know it will do her more than that amount of good;" Mr. Hugh Inman's response was strief but to the point—a subscription of $750; the chairman suggested that as $250 seemed the most popular he'd put that opposite his name. Mr. Woods White said it "might seem immodest in him to make the subscription," but his heart was so fully in the work that he gave $250 for him self and $250 for Mrs. White. Captain Gay said it was more than he felt able give, but he gladly contributed $200. Captain English gave $250, Mr. J. W. English, Jr., gave $150; Edward English and Harry English gave $50 each. Mr. S. M. Inman said he would be with Mr. Hemphill, and made his $500. Mr. Licklider reported subscriptions of $250 from Mr. George Muse, $100 from B. B. Crew, $50 from Mrs. R. H. Richards. Letters of regret at their inability to be present were read from Senator Brown, Dr. Hawthorne, Mr. G. A. Howell, Mr. Mr. J. G. Oglesby and Major Campbell Wallace.

Captain Howell was made permanent chairman. Captain English said a few words about the honor he felt done him in having the meeting held in his house and spoke especially of the governor's presence. Mr. Inman referred to the example of such excellent governors as McDaniel, Gordon and Northen.

Colonel Newborn, who was introduced, said he was a new man in Atlanta, but from what he had seen he hoped it wouldn't be long before he was thoroughly affiliated.

"And now," said Mayor Hemphill, "I think we ought all sing, Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow."

Everybody joined in the singing, and the meeting was at an end.

The Association's Needs. Just now there is a crisis in the affairs of the Young Men's Christian Association, and it was to meet this emergency that last night's meeting was held.

The crisis is just this: For four years the Young Men's Christian Association has been growing and expanding its work in Atlanta. Now it has so enlarged its operations that the work demands more space. It will be re-membered that the association moved into its new building before the third and fourth stories were finished. These stories are yet unfinished and unoccupied, and for lack of the rooms up-stairs a great deal of work that promises large results cannot be done. For instance, the work of the night classes in physiology, stenography, penmanship bookkeeping and mechanical drawing is much cramped, and the attendance limited b lack of room. As it is now, the classes have to be moved about from pillar to post, occu-pying a room here, or a part of the hall there, as the case may be.

Even with the present lack of room there en an average attendance of forty-nine in all these classes, and an average of thirty-five in stenography, and forty in bookkeeping and penmanship.

In the meantime the association is losing the use of the large concert hall, which, when finished, will seat 900 people, and squeeze 100 more in the aisles or on the stage. For lack of this the star course of lectures reaches 500 neonless less than it would. The and we will be able to increase that income to $4,000 or $4,500. As a mere business proposition the investment is a good one. If the use of the large concert hall, which, when finished, will seat 900 people, and squeeze 100 mere in the aisles or on the stage.

For lack of this the star course of lectures reaches 500 people less than it would. The moving spirit in that meeting four years ago, as he was in every good work. Of all ourse. In the ten lectures the actual attendance was only 200 or 300 abort of 5,000. With the concert hall completed the attendance on similar course would be 10,000.

a similar course would be 10,000.

The present situation seems to invite a concerted effort to raise the money and complete the building. It will take $10,000 to do the work and $6.985 of this. work, and $6,285 of this has been subscribed already. There is only $3,715 to raise. When this is secured and the work done the association will have fourteen rooms to gent in the daytime and use for classes at night. These ms will increase the revenue about $3,500, and what is of much more importance, will make room for several times the work that is now being done.

factor in the policy of entertainment and edu-cation, which the association has adopted, can hardly be exaggerated. When last years' ap-propriations were made, $1,000 was set aside for entertainments. Of this the committee spent $800. At the same time they got $700, which reduced the actual cost of the lectures Robert J. Burdette and Dr. Nourse, who made delighted the community, and drew audiences that tested to the utmost the capacity of the

To these lectures all members of the associa almost entirely paid for the entertainment. It was observed that only about 250 of the members took advantage of the course. With the large concert hall, all 750 could have attended, and there would have been room for 250 outsiders besides.

The reach of the association's work is shown by the fact that 100,000 young men passes through the building last year. The accoun is kept daily of those who come in and go out, and the total was about this number. Licklider says that, on an average, seventy-five young men go through the building be-tween 5 and 8 o'clock in the evening. The membership is 749, drawn from forty-seven different occupations.

The Bonds Voted and the Building Will Be Ready Next Fall.

Ready Next Fall.

GRIFFIN, Ga., April 14.—[Special.]—Griffin covered herself with glory today and took a step forward in her progressive march. It was the vote, which was practically unanimous, to issue bonds for the erection of a new and commodious high school building. The Constitution talked with Dr. Drewry, president of the board, tonight, and from him learned that it was contemplated to have the building ready by the beginning of the fall session. A portion of the money will also go to enlarging the colored school building, which at present is too small for the number of pupils. The school will now prepare boys to enter the junior and girls the senior of any of the state colleges, and the beauty of it is there will be no increased taxes.

Farmer Hubbard Is Happy.

CARNESVILLE, Ga., April 14.—[Special.]—Will Hubbard, living about three miles south of town, has just begun to use his corn crop made in 1890, as his crop of 1889 has just been exhausted. He is a small farmer; has four good bales of cotton, and is out of debt, able to wait for an advance in prices. He is satisfied with the currency question, and is not clamoron, and is not clamo ling for the subtreasury; people who are industrious and economical and make their farms self-sustaining are not grumbling at the success of others. If we had more such farmers as Mr. Hubbard the country would be much

And Proposes to Have Rapid Transit by the Quickest and Surest Route—The Rival Companies Trying to Agree.

The world's fair committee of the Georgia State Agricultural Society meets in Atlanta West End is in a fair way to get rapid transit by the first of August. Two companies have offered to give bond for the completion of the work within a short time, and an effort will now be made for an amicable adjustment of The question is, will there be a clash be-tween Colonel Livingston's committee and now be made for an amicable adjustment of the matter between the two lines.

Last week the West End council granted the Atlanta and McPherson Barracks line the right to lay a track on Gordon street where the present horse car line is in operation. The franchise was granted on certain conditions. One of them was that the new company should give bond to complete! the line and put a fitteen-minute schedule on to the western limits of West End within ninety days. Another condition was that the new line should guarantee to protect the city from any litigation.

of West End within ninety days. Another condition was that the new line should guarantee to protect the city from any litigation arising out of the proposed extension. The Atlanta and McPherson Barracks railroad people were given until yesterday to comply with the conditions of the franchise.

In the meantime Mr. Alfred Glasier, of the Consolidated Street Car Company, arrived in the city, and in concert with Mr. Joel Hurt, the prospective president of the company, began to cauvass the situation in West End. They saw that the West End council proposed to have electricity by the quickest and surest route, and accordingly Mr. Hurt called upon Mayor John W. Nelms yesterday and told him that the Consolidated Street Car Company would give bond in the sum of $100,000 to equip their West End line with electrical appliances and cars as fast as men and money could do the work.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mayor could do the work.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mayor Nelms, Mr, Burgess Smith and Mr. Bunckner, of the West End council, met Mr. Mountain and Mr. Woodward, of the Atlanta and Mc-Pherson Barracks line to hear whether they would comply with the conditions on which the franchise was voted them for Gordon street. It developed at the meeting that there had been some conference between the two rival companies with a view to an amicable adjustment of the matter, and the information was given the meeting that Mr. H. M. Atkinson and Mr. Alfred Glasier were then in conference. Upon this Mayor Nelmssuggested that an adjournment he had until Thursday so as to give time for the two companies to that an adjournment he had until Thursday so as to give time for the two companies to reach an agreement between themselves if possible. This suggestion was acceptable to Messrs. Woodward and Mountain, and the committee from the West End council adjourned until 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. In the meantime it is hoped the two companies will come to an understanding which will prevent a conflict. If not, the Atlanta and McPherson Barracks line has until Thursday afternoon to comply with the conditions of the franchise which has been voted them.

The basis upon which an amicable adjust ment of the matter may be reached by the raval companies is not ascertained, but it is supposed that it will either be the joint occupation of a part of Gordon street, or else the division of the West End territory by the occupation of the different streets by the two companies.

THE RETAIL GROCERS. Arrangements Being Made for the Annual

A committee had been appointed to select a proper place for the picnic, and this committee, having conferred with the various roads, and looking over lhe numerous picnic grounds, reported in favor of Lithia Springs.

The grounds were thrown open to the association, and the Georgia Pacific railroad had given a rate of 50 cents for the round trip. In short, the inducements in favor of Lithia Springs were so far superior to anything offered by other roads, that the report of the committee was adopted unanimously.

Resolutions were adopted to invite the president of the state association, and the branches of the association, as well as to issue circulars and post placards amouncing that the grocery stores would be closed on that that the grocery stores would be closed on that day, and inviting all the friends of the association to be in attendance.

It was decided, by resolution, that the chair appoint different committees to carry out the details of the picnic, so that it may be made a success in every particular. It was also recommended that two persons be appointed to control the refreshment privileges, as there will no doubt be a large number of applicants.

The picnic will be one of the largest ever gotten up in the city. There will be boating, fishing, baseball and other amusements, and the day will be a remarkable one in the history of the association. Committees will also be appointed to ask the co-operation of the Retail Butchers' Association, the Clerks' Benefit Association, and the merchants of the city generally, to close up business and join in a general holiday.

Senator Ellington Talks.

Before Senator Ellington left yesterday he had a talk with his colleague, Senator Charles T. Zachry.

These gentlemen were warm friends in the legislature. Several days ago Mr. Ellington wrote to Mr. Zachry, stating that his county alliance had put him in the race for president, and asking his support. when he met Senator Ellington here yester-day, and the unanswered question naturally came up.

"Ellington," said Mr. Zachry, "I would vote for you for almost anything you wanted, under ordinary circumstances. You would make a good president of the alliance, and if circumstances just didn't demand Colonel Livingston's re-election I would vote and do all I could for you."

"It hasn't been published yet, so far as I know, but the Henry County Alliance took action in this matter on the 2d of April. They instructed our delegates to vote for Livingston. The sentiment in our county is unanimous They didn't mean that they thought he would make a better president than you would, or Mr. Searcy, and a great many other strong men in the state, but they are called upon by the enemies of the order to repudiate and down Livingston or refuse to do so. And we

"Feeling as we do about it, however much we esteem you, there is no alternative. We are for Livingston—not as against you, but as against the enemies of the alliance."
Senator Ellington then explained his own osition.

"The action of my county alliance," said he, "was taken under the impression that Colone! Livingston would not be in the race. I am a friend to Colone! Livingston and a friend to the alliance. If Colone! Livingston runs I will not oppose him." So With Mr. Searcy.

A friend of Colonel Searcy's, who would not allow himself to be quoted, would be sufficient authority for the positive statement that Mr. Searcy would not oppose Colonel Living-It seems improbable that either he or Mr.

ton will make any formal withdrawal They were put in by their county alliances, the delegates from these alliances being instructed to vote for them.

And in the probable course of events the votes of these counties will be cast according o those instructions—an expression of home confidence and esteem, a compliment of which confidence and esteem, a compliment of which they may well be proud.

But, in no sense, will they approve Colonel Livingston for the presidency.

It is almost safe to predict, from present indications, that Colenel Livingston will have no opposition IN THE NEW CAMP.

The Atlanta Rifles Move Into the New Armory.

The Atlanta Rifles are now high in the air.

Last night the company moved into its new armory.
That armory is on the top floor of the Venable building, on Forsyth street.
The company met in the old armory on Alabama streetlast night. Knapsacks were packed and arms shouldered for the march. Then at the appointed hour the line of march was taken up. Commanded by Captain Spencer, the then by Hunter to Forsyth, and into the new quarters.

The hall is one of the largest in the south, and is most admirably adapted to drilling purposes.

After getting into the new armory the company began a drill which lasted an hour. The drill was the first the company has had since the exposition, and the boys found it hard work.

Hereafter there will be two drills every week until after Memorial Day.

Does it pay to advertise?

Read the following and judge for yourself:

A few weeks ago the Lowry Hardware Company received a lot of "new-fangled" rat traps, invented and manufactured in France.

They being something entirely different from anything of the kind ever seen in this country before, they put an illustrated advertisement of it in THE CONSTITUTION, calling attention to its peculiar advantages as a "rat catcher."

The result was orders came pouring in from all directions. They came from all parts of Georgia, Alabama, North Carolina, and one from the state of New York.

of New York.

The first lot was exhausted in a few days, and

The first lot was exhausted in a rew days, and more ordered.

In a few days reports began coming in of traps having caught 16, 20, 25, 36, and at last one man "showed up" with 66 rats caught in one night by a single trap. These reports were "passed on" to the people by THE CONSTITUTION, and caused a deluge of orders for traps. The wires and express company were brought into use to supply the demand.

One hotel man writes: "I have cleared my premises of rats, and would not sell my trap for $20.

Lowry Hardware Company have now secured the sole agency for the southeast, and having just received a large shipment of traps, with more toflow, are prepared to fill orders promptly, either from individuals or dealers, at importers' prices. When you have anything for sale and want it known all ever the world, just advertise it in The CONSTITUTION.

The next told how many things she did with it; she washed the kitchen floor, or the finest china-the most delicate lace, or the coarsest fabric. Whatever she did with it, she saved money by it. The fourth told of the harmlessness of Pearline. She had used it for ten years, and she knew nothing that was washable could be hurt by it. These are only four out of millions who use Pearline, but the others say the same things and more. Try it yourself; then you can tell about it. Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, do the honest thing—send it back.

Movements in Villards and industrials were most important, but of latter, while Chicago gas was strong, sugar was weak, but outside of sugar and North American there was no material downward movement during the day, notwithstanding the slight flurry in money which sent the rate on call up as high as 5½ per cent. In marked contrast to sugar, Chicago gas was specially strong, and at one time showed a gain of over 1 per cent, but lost some of it in the afternoon's decline. Besides Villards, Burlington and St. Paul were still active, and notwithstanding the unsatisfactory outlook of the western railroad situation, from some points of view they were well held within narrow limits, and show insignificant changes for the day. The general list, after an irregular opening, stiffened up, but later, retired before raids of the bears, and the market closed heavy, but at insignificant losses in most cases from last night's prices. Among specialties, Manhattan sold lower and Mobile and Ohio slumped off sharply at the close, the former being down 1 per cent, and the latter 2½ per cent, while sugar lost 2 and North American 1, among active shares. THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, April 14—The contending influences in the wheat pit were the strong tone of foreign advices and the fine prospects for the growing crop here. The feature locally was the selling out of the holdings of several of the recently heavy traders on the bnill side mear the opening. The starting price for May wheat even 10% for small boly to 10%, sold as high 16%; and July to 10%. The feeting was generally heavy throughout the latter part of the segmentally heavy throughout were made close to the end. And the lowest prices were made close to the end. There was the same brisk demand for cash corn today a handsome premium over the price for May delivery as was noted yesterday, and that together with wet weather made an excited and higher market at the beginning of the session. The opening for May was from 68½ to 67c, after which the tendency was downward and the lowest prices of the day were current as business closed.

The unfavorable weather gave a firmer tone to the oats market until near the close, when prices were barely steady.

Hog products were firmer, a good deal of pork was for sale on an advance, but ribs and lard were held with more firmness. Prices at the close showed a gain of 25,656 in pork and lard, and ribs the same as yesterday.

The leading futures ranged as follows in Cheago today:

WHART— Opening. Highest. Closing.

pool about %d higher and Indian cargoes about % cent per bashel higher, cansing an uneasy feeling among the shorts and practically opening the market at the highest point of the day. Foreigners have never speculated as much in the Chicago grain market as at present, and the fact that there was a corner in wheat in Berlin about a month ago, and it being now reported that there is a corner in the April flour market in Parks, is strong evidence in our mind that a large portion of the advance abroad is purely speculative, and as our market has been largely influenced by the feeling abroad, any change in the bullish sentiment prevailing over there would undoubtedly cause a sharp decline here. We see nothing for enormage holders during the balance of this month. Light receipts and continued large demand for eastern and New England states for immediate consumption is the bull feature in the corn market. This demand may continue for a few weeks, but we consider the price very high and think the speculator runs more than the ordinary risk when he buys without stop orders, limiting losses.

The bears have been punished somewhat lately by selling in the breaks, but we think those who take advantage of the sharp bulges and sell are likely to be successful in the end.

About the same conditions prevall in the oat market.—Provisions are dull and featureless.

We think there are large holdings of May pork to be sold out and to be changed over before the end of the month, and that the tendency will be to depress prices. LAMSON RROS. & CO.

PLAY BALL! PLAY BALL! THAT JAIL DELIVERY.

THE BOYS ARE TO SEE SOME OF

With Star Players of Two League Clubs Doing the Work—The Clevelands and Pittsburgs Headed This Way.

Play ball!
President Harrison and his party will reach Atlanta today, but their coming doesn't mean half so much to the lovers of the great American game as the coming of "Pete" Browning on Saturday.

And the lovers of the national game make up a very goodly portion of the population of Atlanta.

Yes, Pete is coming—Peter the Gladiator, the leading batter of this great and glorious the most prominent players in the League, for the Cleveland and Pittsburg clubs are very strong this season. Browning is with the Pittsburgs. In the same club are Bierbauer, the greatest second baseman in the country the man over whom came the split between the League and the Association; Ed Hanlon, the great fielder, the man who captured Buffalo's Big Four for Detroit and made that club famous thereby, and who was one of the leaders in the brotherhood fight last year; Jimmy Galvin, the great pitcher who is known to everybody who knows anything about ball; Mack, who caught no less than 126 games last season, and who is one of the best in the business; and a dozen or so others who have almost equal claim to

In the Clevelands there are Zimmer, whose record of 111 consecutive games behind the bat has been unequaled; Viau, the great Cali-Johnson in the field—all as good as the best in Johnson in the field—all as good as the best in their respective positions.

The full personnel of the club is as follows: Cleveland has Zimmer and Doyle, catchers; Viau, Beatin, Seward, Young and Gruber, pitchers; Vir.ae, Childs and Tebeau on the bases; McKean at short; McAleer, Davis and Johnson in the field.

Pittsburg has: Catchers, Mack, Fields and Berger; pitchers. Galvin, Baldwin, Staley, Stratton and Szinith; on the bases, Beckley, Bierbauer and Reilly: shortstop, Miller; in the field, Browning, Hanlon and Carroll.

The clubs have been doing excellent work in Florida, the men are in splendid shape and the game will be a good one. The last issue of Sporting Times says:

The Cleveland and Pittsburg clubs are big winners by sending their teams south. The Chicagos, Bostons, New Yorks and Brooklyns missed it as they have found to their sorrow.

The St. Augustine and Jacksonville papers endorse this view of the situation by telling in no uncertain terms of the great games they have had down there. their respective positions.

The two clubs will reach Atlanta Saturday morning. Today they play in Macon and to-morrow repeat the dose there. There is no lack of baseball enthusiasm in Macon and it is believed the same will be found true of At-lants.

IN COMFORTABLE QUARTERS. But They Are in Need of Proper Cloth-

Mrs. Goff and her daughters were sent to Fulton county jail yesterday and were given clean and comfortable quarters, thanks to the earnest work of the ladies of the King's Daughters and the Home for the Friendless.

Mrs. Brittan, representing these benevolent organizations, has been untiring in her efforts to afford them succor in their distress.

The two girls are plain and untutored mountain maidens, and the ladies who have looked into the sad case are satisfied that they are simply ignorant and unsophisticated, and by no means criminal. They are sadly in need of proper clothing, after their imprisonment in the various jails, and an effort is being made to provide them with clean and decent garments by these charitable ladies who sympathize so deedly wit: them in their forlorn and distressed con-

THE PRISONER DID NOT ESCAPE WITH Y. M. C. A. PEOPLE.

Mr. Licklider Says the Eight or Ten Young Men Did Not Belong to the Association

There is an unexpected sequel to the story bout the jail delivery of a month ago, when a prisoner was supposed to have taken advan-tage of a visit from a Young Men's Christian

It seems that the young men were not known to the Young Men's Christian Association. The question naturally arises, if not Young Men's Christian Association young men, who were they? Mr. F. W. Miller and two other gentlemen did go into the jail and hold a religious two other gentlemen did go into the jail and hold a religious service, but they went before the other party and went out before them.

Mr. Licklider, secretary of the Yonng Men's Christian Association, when asked about the matter, replied:

"The report that a man had taken advantage of one of our jail meetings to escape, was a farce. We had but one man at the jail that afternoon. That man was Mr. F. W. Miller. He, with two worthy gentlemen of the city, visited the jail, was allowed to go in, and began the service. While he was in, some eight or ten men came in and entered into the service. He and the gentlemen who accompanied him asked who the men were, and the answer was that they were members of the Young Men's Christian Association. He knew only one of them, and he was not a member.

Christian Association. He knew only one of them, and he was not a member.

"Mr. Miller is certain that no men came out when he did, save the two gentlemen who accompanied him in. These three gentlemen came out in advance of the other party, with whom the prisoner did escape. That the prisoner did escape is true, but it is a reflection on three worthy citizens to say that he escaped with them."

THE WILSON CASE.

The Case Argued Before the Jury Yesterday. The Wilson case was argued yesterday in the criminal branch of the superior court. Colonel Thomas Latham opened for the defense, and made a very strong speech, consuming about an hour.

Solicitor General Hill followed in a forcible arraignment of the defendant, going into a careful analysis of the case in all its bearings. Ho spoke for one hour and fifty minutes.

Colonel W. H. Hulsey came next in an able argument for the defense, in which he scored some fine points for his client. But his speech was most ably answered by Mr. Harry C. Reed, who followed, and who argument was clear and logical in every par-

Judge Rufus J. Dorsey followed, and in his speech took the ground that the prosecution was a fraud, from beginning to end, and his speech was bold and aggressive in defense of his client. At the conclusion of his address, court adjourned until this morning.

Hon. W. C. Glenn and Colonel P. H. Brewster will finish the argument this morning, and then the case will go to the jury.

THE ARCHER CASE.

Fifty Acres of Land in a Case in Superior

The civil branch of superior court is engaged in the trial of the case of W. T. Archer vs. Mrs. Emma P. Archer and her six minor children, and A. M. Reinhardt.

The suit is for the recovery of fifty acres of land sold to A. M. Reinhardt by Mrs. Archer in 1880, for $2,072. Archer claims that he signed the deed to his wife while intoxicated, and asks the court to set aside the deed. Mrs. Archer claims that in 1879 she sued for a divorce from W. T. Archer, but after he had agreed to live a sober life, she became reconciled to him, and that he deeded her the property with the understanding that she should become anonch means.

open business.

She claims that she sold the property to Reinhardt to meet a loan which he had extended to her.

The case has been pending since 1887, but will properly to we to an end today, unless the will probably come to an end today, unless the jury find the judicial nut over-hard to crack. has been the standard blood-purifier of the world—no other approaching it in popular confidence or universal demand. Its formula is approved by the leading physicians and druggists. Being pure and highly concentrated, it is the most economical of any possible blood medicine. Every purchaser of Sarsaparilla should insist upon having this preparation and see that each bottle bears the well-known name of

J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

In every quarter of the globe Ayer's Sar. saparilla is proved to be the best remedy for aff diseases of the blood. Lowell druggists unite in testifying to the superior excellence of this medicine and to its great popularity

The Most Desirable VACANT LOTS IN THE CITY , FOR SALE AT INMAN PARK

April 15th, at 3 P. M.

MAPS OF THIS PROPERTY WILL BE distributed from my office in a few days. Water and gas pipes have been laid, streets graded, walks and drives perfected, making this residence park a thing of laid, streets graded, walks and drives perfected, making this residence park a thing of beauty. At the same time, it is acknowledged to be the equal of any portion of Atlanta in elevation, healthfulness and value. Edgewood avenue leads from the center of the city directly through the park, furnishing a magnificent, etraight, paved street, with a double-tracked electric railroad line, giving communication with this property every seven and one-half minutes. Some of the best people in the south have built elegant homes upon Edgewood avenue, Elizabeth street, Waverly Way, Euclid avenue, Spruce and other streets. All the surroundings are simply perfect. The city has agreed to continue to make such improvements as are necessary. Ride over this great and prosperous city and make the comparison with other localities, and you will conclude that right now is the time to secure your home in Imman park. Several expensive buildings of the latest architectural proportions and beauty will be erected on these lovely grounds during the present year. It is a great comfort to know that your neighbor will build as fine a house as you do; that no shanty can confront you. Come in and get a plat, go upon the premises with your wife, and select your lot before the sale, and buy it. The terms are exceedingly liberal—only opequarter cash, the balance in one, two and three years, 8 per cent interest. Remember that first-class Atlanta real estate advances annually. You are bound to lose money by walting.
